General Applicability Statement

1.0 Policy

1.1 It is Lockheed Martin policy that the Board of Directors, acting through the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee (the “Committee”), shall conduct a reasonable prior review and oversight of all Related Person Transactions. The Committee may approve or ratify Related Person Transactions in its discretion if deemed fair and reasonable to the Corporation and not inconsistent with the interests of the Corporation and its stockholders. This may include situations where Lockheed Martin (i) provides products or services to Related Persons on an arm's length basis on terms comparable to those provided to unrelated third parties or on terms comparable to those provided to employees generally, or (ii) obtains products or services of a nature, quantity or quality, or on other terms, that are not readily available from alternative sources. The Committee may preapprove categories of Transactions or relationships.

1.2 Although it is the policy that all Related Person Transactions be preapproved, if a Related Person Transaction is identified after it has occurred or commenced without preapproval, the Committee may ratify the Transaction after it commences.

2.0 Basis for Policy

The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) has adopted rules requiring public companies to disclose whether they have a policy and procedures for the review and approval or ratification of Related Person Transactions and the New York Stock Exchange has adopted listing requirements regarding approval of Related Person Transactions. Lockheed Martin also recognizes that it is appropriate, as a matter of good corporate governance and consistent with the best interests of its stockholders, to establish a policy and procedures to ensure the review and approval or ratification of Related Person Transactions.
